Viburnums

Planting a viburnum adds year-round beauty and wildlife value to your landscape. These hardy shrubs offer fragrant spring flowers, lush summer foliage, vibrant fall color, and winter berries that attract birds. With varieties for sun or shade, viburnums are low-maintenance, deer-resistant, and perfect for hedges, screens, or specimen plantings.

Be sure to start your Viburnum off right by adding Home & Garden Excellence Bonemeal in the hole at the time of planting and amend your existing soil with Home & Garden Tree & Shrub Soil to get your Viburnum started off right.

Evergreen Viburnum

Species	Height x Width	Bloom Colour	Bloom Time	Scent	Description
Viburnum davidii (David's Viburnum)	3' x 3'	White	Late Spring	No	Dense, compact habit with blue berries in fall. Looks best when planted in masses.
Viburnum davidii 'Pincushion'	2-3' x 3-5'	White	Spring	Slight	Compact, evergreen shrub with glossy, dark green, deeply veined leaves
Viburnum tinus 'Spring Bouquet'	6-8' x 4-6'	White	Early Spring	Slight	Great for hedges and screens and can be trained as a tree. Reddish pink buds produce white flowers.
